THEME THREE: RESIDENTS' EXPERIENCE

On May 15, an interactive session was held to share interesting patient cases among clinical pharmacy residents. The activity brought together residents from a variety of clinical specialties and training levels, including PGY1 and PGY2 residents.

The session provided a platform for residents to present and discuss unique and challenging patient cases they encountered during their rotations. These cases sparked insightful conversations around clinical decision-making, patient safety, and multidisciplinary collaboration. The exchange of ideas between residents of different specialties and experience levels created a rich learning environment.

Attendees found the session highly informative and engaging. Many appreciated the opportunity to learn from each other's experiences and expressed a strong interest in holding similar sessions in the future. The session successfully supported the program's goal of promoting a culture of continuous learning, collaboration, and quality improvement in clinical pharmacy practice.
